The upper Dourbie Valley via La Rougerie

Des Gorges du Tarn au Causse du Larzac

Sur le chemin avant le Moulin Bondon (Virginie Govignon - OT Larzac et Vallées)

Near the Cévennes mountains, explore both sides of the Dourbie gorges: superb hamlets and breathtaking panoramas await you.

This hike is a variation of the "Upper Dourbie Valley" circuit: instead of taking the old rural road from Saint-Jean to Trêves, you will cross the hamlet of La Rougerie and then take a path that climbs to La Brunelerie. Again, proceed with caution, enjoying the views... and taking the time for a swim if you feel like it!

1. From the parking area, head to the roundabout and follow the road towards Trèves until you reach the hairpin bend called "Le Périgoul".
2. Turn right onto the road towards La Rougerie, then in the hamlet, take the path on the left that climbs gradually through schistous terrain with varied and changing vegetation: undergrowth dominated by chestnut trees, and open areas with broom, heather, and Mediterranean rockrose.
3. After walking nearly 3 km, at the intersection, turn right towards La Brunelerie. In the hamlet, walk between the houses to reach the path that leads to Le Coulet, which passes above the highest house. Continue along this path for about 900 m before crossing the path that leads to Le Coulet and follow it to the right. Cross the hamlet and continue on the path leading to "Mas Aubert", a former mining area of which little trace remains. Continue along this path, which joins a wide logging track 150m further on.
4. Take this track to the left. After about 1km, a large rock is located on the right; go around it or climb it to enjoy a splendid view of Le Tayrac and the Dourbie river (caution is advised when accessing this viewpoint, as the rock can be slippery). Continue along the track for approximately 1.2km.
5. Follow a path to the left through the undergrowth and then across some rocks to reach the footbridge of Le Tayrac (proceed carefully over the last few meters before the footbridge). Cross the footbridge and head up towards the hamlet of Le Tayrac, then cross through it and continue to the D114 road. Take this road to the right for approximately 500m to the Tayrac cross.
6. Facing this cross, on the inside of the bend, take the "St-Guiral" direction along a very wide logging track, then leave it 800m further on to take a pleasant wooded track on the right, roughly parallel to the D114. After about 1.5km, continue downhill on the track to rejoin the D114.
7. At the road, follow it to the left for 70m to take the path on the right through the woods that leads to Le Viala. From Le Viala, take the D114 towards St-Jean du Bruel.
8. Turn right to cross the hamlet of Le Bruel and reach the village of St-Jean du Bruel.
